

Thematic plan for independent work of a student in the discipline "Clinical anatomy. Clinical anatomy of the head and neck" for a student in the educational program of a specialty in the specialty 05/31/03 Dentistry, focus (profile) Dentistry, full-time form of education for the 2024-2025 academic year.

№	Topics	Hours
3 semester
1	Peritoneal floor of the pelvis. Topographic-anatomical rationale for puncture of the posterior vaginal vault in gynecology. Execution technique.	3
2	Types of pneumothorax. First aid.	3
3	Congenital cysts and fistulas of the neck.	3
4 semester
1	Clinical and anatomical rationale for the technique of removing various teeth, gouging out roots, resection of the root apex and their possible complications.	6
2	Clinical and anatomical rationale for cosmetic surgery on the face (age-related changes in facial tissue, features of the anatomy and physiology of facial tissue, mechanisms of skin aging, clinical manifestations of aging, elimination of wrinkles, correction of drooping eyebrows, elimination of excess skin on the face).	10
3	Congenital and acquired malformations of teeth. Clinical and anatomical rationale for orthodontic methods of correcting bites.	10
4	Fractures of the upper and lower jaw (the most typical places of fractures, classification, complication, treatment).	4
TOTAL		39

Discussed at the meeting of the department for operative surgery and topographic anatomy on June 03, 2024, record No. 10.

Head of the department

A.A. Vorobyov